

Bogusz Modrzewski

DOI: 10.21858/msr.19.05

Vol no: 19

Return to issue

Return to editions list

The purpose of this text is to descriptively define the conditions for the formation of an architectural language of forms, especially regional forms, understood as the adaptability of the domain of architecture to local conditions, both geographically (local climatic conditions, materials, energy efficiency or low-tech) and humanistically, in relation to local building traditions.

Bogusz Modrzewski, Język i regionalna adaptacyjność architekturyPobierz