

Małgorzata Podogrodzka

DOI: lack

Vol no: 9

Return to issue

Return to editions list

Cities are undergoing constant transformation. Among other things, their architecture, infrastructure, public space and the quality of human resources are changing. At the same time, large cities are considered to be the creator of demographic changes, and thus changes in population structures. But who can be considered a city resident?

Małgorzata Podogrodzka, Demografia Warszawy na tle innych miast Polski w latach 1990-2008
Pobierz