

Anna Majewska, Małgorzata Denis, Joanna Jaroszewicz

DOI: lack

Vol no: 16

Return to issue

Return to editions list

The Suburban Zone is a transitional area between urban and rural, an area between the traditional built-up areas and suburban area of the central city and the traditional rural areas, which is characterized by land use transformation and socio-demographic features. An area that separates urban and rural areas and can be treated as a border zone between them [Dziewoński K, 1987]. Nowadays in Poland, suburban zones of larger cities are subject to dynamic urbanization processes.

Anna Majewska, Małgorzata Denis, Joanna Jaroszewicz, Procesy rozpraszania zabudowy w strefie podmiejskiej WarszawyPobierz