The subject of the article is to consider the determinants of equestrian development in the Warsaw metropolitan area. It discusses the determinants of development, potentials and the most significant barriers, as well as the possibilities of overcoming restrictions and activities to popularize equestrian sports and recreation. This is one of the thematic threads of the research conducted in selected equestrian centers in the Warsaw agglomeration, within the framework of two consecutive statutory research projects, funded by the Ministry of Science and Higher Education grant ds-114 and ds-144.
