

Anna Pawlikowska-Piechotka, Maciej Piechotka

DOI: 10.21858/msr.34.04

Vol. no: 34

Return to issue

Return to editions list

The history of Warsaw's sports facilities is inscribed in the history of the city and is a document of its cultural heritage. For several hundred years, the development of the various sports practiced in Warsaw has been accompanied by investments for sports, the evolution of sports construction is visible. Thus, the history of Warsaw sports architecture covers a period of about seven hundred years: from the Middle Ages to modern times. These were both buildings erected for the needs of major sporting events, such as racetracks and are today's stadiums, as well as sports facilities accompanying education or daily recreation of city residents.

Anna Pawlikowska-Piechotka, Maciej Piechotka, Historyczne obiekty sportowe Warszawy jako walor turystyki współczesnej. Część I: od średniowiecza do wybuchu II wojny światowej
Pobierz