

Adam Molecki

DOI: 10.21858/msr.20.08

Vol. no: 20

Return to issue

Return to editions list

The article presents selected aspects of the implementation of the Intelligent Transport System in Wrocław. It shows the emphasis that city authorities have put on coordinating investments related to relieving the transportation system of vehicular traffic and privileging streetcars. Also highlighted is how a change in the perception of public transportation was achieved - from a nuisance to a relatively convenient way of making journeys in the city.

Adam Molecki, Wdrażanie Inteligentnych Systemów Transportowych \(ITS\) w kontekście polityki transportowej aglomeracji miejskiej na przykładzie WrocławiaPobierz