

Beata Fortuna-Antoszkiewicz, Jan Łukaszkiewicz

DOI: 10.21858/msr.18.07

Vol no: 18

Return to issue

Return to editions list

Narutowicz Square in Warsaw, in terms of space and urban planning, is one of the most interesting and important squares in the modern capital. It serves an important function as the transportation center of Warsaw's Ochota district. The purpose of this publication is to indicate the real values of the square, taking into account the many years of historical layers. The authors of the publication have queried archival materials documenting the transformation of the square's space.

Beata Fortuna-Antoszkiewicz, Jan Łukaszkiewicz, Plac Narutowicza w Warszawie – dyskusja o zachowaniu walorów kulturowych miejsca
Pobierz