

Andrzej Eymontt, Krzysztof Wierzbicki

DOI: 10.21858/msr.21.05

Vol. no: 21

Return to issue

Return to editions list

Significant advances in technology for extracting sediments from the bottom of water bodies and processing them into high-value organic fertilizers have created new opportunities for their reclamation. These new opportunities can be put to good use in updating the Spatial Management Plan for the Mazowieckie Voivodeship, as well as in implementing Poland's commitments to the European Union regarding the Water Framework Directive and plans for the rehabilitation of waterways in Poland.

Andrzej Eymontt, Krzysztof Wierzbicki, Nowe możliwości rewitalizacji małych zbiorników wodnychPobierz