2012 marks the 550th anniversary of the incorporation of the first lands of the Duchy of Mazovia (Rawska and Gostynin lands) into Poland. This year's anniversary prompts questions about the legacy of the Duchy of Mazovia. The Piasts of Mazovia, who ruled the Duchy of Mazovia, although today they seem a little underestimated, a little forgotten, a little treated as semi-legendary figures, laid the milestones for the development of today's Mazovia.
