

Ewa Paturalaska-Nowak

DOI: 10.21858/msr.18.10

Vol no: 18

Return to issue

Return to editions list

The Strategy for Development of Central Poland until 2020 with an Outlook 2030 is the fourth supra-regional strategy adopted by the Council of Ministers. Work on its preparation was initiated in 2012 by the local governments of the Lodz and Mazovian Voivodeships, signing an agreement on interregional cooperation. The result of the agreement was the development of the Concept for the Development Strategy of the Central Poland Macroregion 2030, which, based on the diagnosed potentials of the two voivodeships, defined the fields of cooperation and objectives for the development of the macroregion. It became the basis for the development Strategy for Central Poland by the Ministry of Infrastructure and Development.

Ewa Paturalaska-Nowak, Strategia Rozwoju Polski Centralnej 2020 z perspektywą do 2030 – jako przykład zintegrowanego planowania na poziomie ponadregionalnymPobierz