The purpose of the article is to review the development policy of the Mazowieckie Voivodeship over the last twenty years. The article discusses the reform of the administrative division of Poland introduced at the turn of 1998 and 1999, as well as the legislative changes determining the scope of competencies of the provincial government in conducting development policy. Then the integrated development policy implemented in the Mazowieckie Voivodeship is presented horizontally (integration of strategic and planning documents) and historically (consistency in setting and implementing development goals).
