The systematization of revitalization provisions that took place in the Guidelines for Revitalization in Operational Programs 2014-2020, issued by the Ministry of Infrastructure and Development on July 3, 2015, and in the Revitalization Act of October 9, 2015, at the same time introduced a great deal of misinformation among local governments accustomed to superficially equating the word “revitalization” with renovation. The aforementioned documents redefined the principles, procedure for preparing, conducting and evaluating the revitalization process, as well as the content of revitalization programs. Therefore, the changes introduced forced all local governments implementing or planning to undertake the revitalization process in their areas to verify the documents that form the basis for such activities.
